PAPHOS, CYPRUS

SUNSET SIREN

9TH JULY 2016

Photography by Camila Carril

Today I have another look from my recent trip to Paphos to share with you. Me and the girls found the most perfect spot for watching the sunset on a rooftop terrace at our Hotel, The Almyra. The temperature in an evening is still gloriously warm so I wore this white dress which, despite its appearance, is not Isabel Marant. Yes it's a dupe and costs less than half the price of the real deal. I love it so much that I also have it in black (seen in this post). I cinched in the waist with this tan belt to match my favourite pair of Emu sandals. These sandals are so comfortable and they are currently in the sale for half price, whoop! I have literally been living in them since I got back from Paphos. I'm a huge fan of hats come summertime and my go-to style has to be a wide brim fedora like this one.
